made, make another of black until the canvas is covered. Cover a piece of cardboard, the right size, with the finished canvas, and covering with a piece of glass and another piece of cardboard for a back, frame with passe-par-tout per.

The handkerchief case is made from a colored handkerchief, 13 inches square.

Fold over as shown in the illustration, making an envelope. Cut a piece of cotton to fit inside when doubled, cover with silk or saten, and sprinkle sachet between layers of cotton. Make button and loop to fasten flap down.

The chinz cover for a small ironing board, the board being 18 inches long and 8 inches wide, is made like a large pocket, a flap folding over at the top. The case is bound with tape and has a loop by which to hang it. A square pocket on one side is for the ironholder. Pad the board and cover as for an ordinary ironing board. This makes a useful little present for a traveller.

CYNTHIA GREY'S DAILY CORRESPONDENCE

What will remove freckles from my face? I've used almost everything to no avail.—Reader.

A.—Lemon juice will fade them a little, but if you are freckled by nature, nothing will remove them. Don't worry about them, your friends probably never notice them, and anyway everyone likes a freckled individual.

Where can I find a good school which teaches hair-dressing, and what are terms?—Reader.

A.—Apply for an apprenticeship at any reliable hair-dressing parlor. If you are an apt pupil you will soon be earning wages instead of paying to learn.

What will whiten a wool sweater that has become yellowed from washing? L. M. S.

A.—The case is hopeless.

How can I clean a white and tan dress that is covered with mildew?—Louise.

A.—Boil in chloride of lime solution until mildew is removed. Boil pound of soda in gallon of water for ten minutes, then add pound chloride of lime.

When settled pour off clear part, bottle and cork tightly. Put garment in two gallons of water with a handful of soap shavings and one pint of lime solution.
